Featured is the gold chart. The trend got ahead of itself on Wednesday and Thursday. Our supporters were warned via the daily message. The brown arrow points to a downside reversal. The blue arrow points to the last upside breakout and the green arrow points to a complete retest. Since the fundamentals remain bullish, the expectation is for price to start rising again from somewhere near this green arrow. The number of ounces backing GLD held steady at 34.9 million. The GDI closed at 65% compared to 75% the day before.

Featured is the weekly gold chart. The green arrows point to bottoms in the 7 - 8 week gold cycle, The brown arrows point to tops. This latest downside reversal could be a warning that there will be a bit more weakness before the uptrend resumes.

Featured is GDX the miners ETF. Price is rising inside the blue channel. The green Fibonacci lines suggest a target for this pullback is at the green arrow. The SIs are at support and the MAs are in positive alignment and rising.

== >>> MODEL PORTFOLIO

Each report will show the trades that were completed since the last report.

Since I do most of my trading on the TSX, I will show the stock symbol for the US equivalent in brackets. Note: when trading a pink sheet listed stock, you should always buy or sell using a specific price - never a 'market' order.

To benefit from this feature, pull up a chart for any of the symbols that I buy or sell. Determine if you want to do likewise or wait for another opportunity. If you're not sure of the fundamentals, - click on the website link provided. Always make sure the index or ETF that represents the sector is in harmony with your trade. I apologize for the short time I stay in some stocks, but this is all based on chart patterns. If the chart pattern changes from positive to negative - I usually run. Here are some of my trading habits:

- I eliminate all emotion. Stocks are simply investments that I use to improve the bottom line. I pick a stock or commodity because I think the chart pattern looks positive. Once I decide that we are operating in a bull market, I don't bother with sell stops - I patiently wait for the stock or ETF to come back into positive territory.
- When I do sell below my cost, I look at the loss as an opportunity to get into a winner.
- I use the 20 day and 30 day exponential moving averages at Stockcharts.com to help me decide when to buy and when to sell. Then I draw a channel, just as I do in the reports I issue. As long as the stock stays in the channel, I'll keep it as part of the portfolio, unless I decide to take profits.
- You've heard people say: 'Buy Low – Sell High'. Here is a variation on that advice: BUY HIGH – SELL HIGHER! It has been my experience that buying stocks that have just broken out to a new 5 year high have been the best performers in my portfolio. When a stock or commodity has reached this stage, there is 'blue sky' ahead.
- Next I look at the supporting indicators – especially the Accumulation/ Distribution line. When a stock or commodity becomes overbought (such as trading near the top of the channel, or making a 'double or triple' top), I usually sell all or part of my holding into the rally. . Over time I try to replace these stocks during pullbacks.
- Finally I make sure that the sector in which the stock or commodity operates, is moving in the same direction as the stock of commodity that I am about to buy.

Here are some kernels of wisdom from a very successful trader, Jesse Stine:

- Emotional intelligence is of utmost importance.
- Discipline is key
- Drawdowns are lessons.
- Patience is very important
- Ignore the news media
- Have faith in your system
- Trade with confidence
- Never get attached to a stock
- Be a contrarian
- Be a lone wolf.

According to an article titled: The Strange Behavior of Gold Investors, by Dimitri Speck (link is here): <https://www.gold-eagle.com/article/strange-behavior-gold-investors-monday-thursday>

Monday is a day when investors usually sell gold early.

Transactions within the Model Portfolio are shown as they occur, in the daily report that goes out to supporters.

I often take profits via a transaction that was planned when I bought the stock. So far during the past 12 months we closed out 208 positions. 203 at a profit and 5 at a loss. This produced a ratio of +96% These numbers will change slightly whenever we switch to the latest 12 month period

The reason why our portfolio is large is because of a desire to be of help to as many investors as possible, by blazing a trail, and 'trading with our supporters'. Our position in 'penny stocks' is always very conservative, but growing if the price rises. The % increase in a penny stock with proven assets in a safe location usually beats a senior producer 'hands down'.

10 positions are 'under water'.

The Model Portfolio consists of 78% precious metals, 15% in various other categories and 7% cash.

Here is my portfolio:

AAG.v (AAGFF) aftermathsilver.com Silver in Chili and Peru;

This chart courtesy Barchart shows silver topping $100 US, just a few days ago.

Featured is the silver chart. Price is rising inside the blue channel. Friday's flash crash was due primarily to people taking profits, while the CME raised margins once again. The green arrows point to support. The SIs are at support levels and the MAs are in positive alignment and rising. The number of ounces backing SLv slipped marginally, from 502.7 to 499.0 million.

This chart courtesy Tradingview compares Friday's drop in the price of silver in North America, to the price in China, where the drop was less than half of the % drop in NA.

Featured is SIL the silver producers index. After dropping 15% on Friday, the worst is probably over. The green arrows point to support levels. The SIs are at support and the MAs are in positive alignment while rising.

Featured is UURNM a Uranium ETF. Price is rising inside the blue channel. This pull-back in sympathy with gold and silver, shows support levels at the green arrows. The SIs are positive and the MAs are in positive alignment and rising.

Featured is COPX a copper ETF. Price is rising inside the blue channel. Friday's drop in price in sympathy with silver and gold, has three levels of support, but the brown arrow points at upside volume which is greater than downside volume, which is bullish.

Featured is the S&P 500 index. Price is carving out a rising wedge. These usually break to the downside. A close below the brown arrow sets up a target at the green arrow.

Angels

For He shall give His angels charge over you to guard you in all your ways.

— Psalm 91:11

God sends his angels to minister to and to watch over His elect, even those who are about to come to conversion, lest they should perish before they are saved.

Corrie ten Boom, that brave Dutch lady who protected so many Jews during World War II, tells how, during a rebellion in the Congo, there was a school where 200 children of missionaries were being taught. Hundreds of rebel soldiers were closing in on that school. Word had come to those at the school that the soldiers were going to take the school and kill everyone inside. Students and staff prayed that God would intercede. Finally, they saw the soldiers inching out of the jungle. There was only a small wall around the encampment and a couple of soldiers protecting it. The rebels came closer and closer. Suddenly they jumped up and fled back into the jungle. They came back the second day and did the same thing again, and again on the third, the exact same thing occurred. One of the rebels was wounded and brought into the compound for treatment. As the doctor was treating him, he asked why they did not take the school as they had planned. He said, "We could not do it. We saw hundreds of soldiers in white uniforms and became scared." In Africa, soldiers never wear white uniforms.
